PART I. SORROW.

In the Country of Moab, and on the road to Bethlehem.

CHORUS.

A grievous famine smote the land,
And chasten'd Judah's children sore ;
It was the Lord's divine command
That earth her fruits should yield no more !
O praise the Lord ! He knoweth best
When peace and plenty to accord ;
To Him all things are manifest.
O praise the Lord ! O praise the Lord !

And now to Him it seemeth good
Again to send His people bread ;
And where of late gaunt Famine stood
Sweet Plenty raiseth up her head !
O praise the Lord ! He knoweth best
When peace and plenty to accord ;
To Him all things are manifest.
O praise the Lord ! O praise the Lord !

RECITATIVE AND AIR.—Naomi.

Now go your ways, my daughters well-beloved ;
Return ye each unto your mother's house ;
The Lord deal kindly with ye, as ye both
Have dealt with those departed, and with me.

O gracious Lord, cast down Thine eyes
Upon Thy servant here,
And grant me strength thro' life's brief length
My earthly woes to bear.
It hath seem'd well, Almighty God,
That I should chasten'd be ;
But O I would not stay the rod,
For all is known to Thee !

If by the way I faint and fall,
Of burdens sore complain,
Desert me not, but strength allot,
That I may rise again !
And when my life on earth is o'er,
Have mercy, Lord, on me,
And let me dwell for evermore
In Paradise with Thee !

CHORAL RECITATIVE.

They lifted up their voice and wept again,
For grief and sorrow dwelt within their hearts.

TRIO.—Naomi, Orpah, and Ruth.

Naomi.

Farewell ! the hour has come for parting !
Farewell ! love's link must break at last !
Heed not the truant teardrops starting ;
They do but greet the mirror'd past !

Orpah.

"Farewell !" the word is all unspoken !
"Farewell !" it cannot yet be said !
For O our hearts will then be broken,
And peace for ever from us fled !

Ruth.

Alas ! and must we from thee sever ?
 Alas ! our souls are wrung with pain !
 O say not it must be for ever,
 But soon our lives will join again !

Naomi.

Alas ! my soul is fill'd with sorrow,
 Alas ! to part is bitter pain ;
 Yet comfort from this promise borrow,
 In Heaven we shall meet again !
 Farewell !

Ah, no !

Farewell !

Ah, no !

Ye may no more beside me stay !
 O we will cleave to one another !
 Alas !

It may not be—away !

SOLO.—Ruth.

Entreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee : for whither thou goest, I will go ; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge : thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God.

CHORUS.

Speak ! art thou that Naomi, daughter,
 Who left us when famine was here ?
 When streams were despoil'd of their water,
 And Earth was all barren and sere ?
 Yea ! thou art the one who departed
 With husband and sons in the past ;
 Say, why art thou sorrowful-hearted
 Now home thou art welcom'd at last ?

RECITATIVE.—Naomi.

Call me not Naomi,
 For grief and woe are mine :
 The Lord hath dealt full bitterly,
 It was His will divine !
 I went out full from Bethlehem,
 All empty come I now,
 Yet to the High God's just decree
 My head I humbly bow.

CHORUS.

Weep no more, for we will cheer thee !
 Weep no more, but dry thine eyes !
 'T'o our hearts we will endear thee !
 From thy sorrow, daughter, rise !

Weep no more, the Lord will aid thee,
 He ne'er faileth in distress ;
 Bygone woes have only made thee
 Fitter for new happiness !
 Weep no more !
 O weep no more !

PART II.

JOY.

*In the harvest field, at the abode of Naomi,
 and at the Gate of Bethlehem.*

CHORUS OF REAPERS.

See ! the golden rays of morning
 Now the meadows are adorning ;
 Earth is from all gloomy shadows,
 Born of sombre Night, releas'd !
 O'er the crest of distant mountain,
 O'er the brook and bubbling fountain,
 Gleam anew the waking sunbeams :
 Day appears within the East !

While the pearly dewdrops glisten
 To the cornfields let us hasten,
 There with songs of praise to lighten
 Hours that are ordain'd for toil ;
 Blithely we will do our reaping,
 Still within our mem'ry keeping
 Thoughts of Him who, in His mercy
 Giveth us the fruitful soil !

See ! the morn, with pointed finger,
 Biddeth us no longer linger,
 Warneth 'tis the time for labour
 Golden stems of corn among.
 To the fields then let us hasten
 While the pearly dewdrops glisten,
 There the hours of toil to lighten
 With thanksgiving and with song !

CHORAL RECITATIVE.

Naomi had a kinsman of her husband's, a mighty man of wealth, whose name was Boaz.

AIR.—Ruth.

Let me hie unto the field
 Where the reapers reap the corn ;
 Scatter'd ears the ground will yield,
 Fallen since the dewy morn.

Kindly hearts I there may find—
Hearts that will not this deny,
While the golden sheaves they bind
To the sickles' melody.

'Mid the drooping sheaves to glean
Let me now, I pray thee, go ;
Where the reaper's scythe hath been
Ears of golden corn lie low.
Homeward then, with yellow spoil,
I shall haste at close of day,
Having gather'd from the soil
Wealth that others cast away.

RECITATIVE.—Naomi.

Go, my daughter, and may thy gleanings
prosper ;
May plenty cross thy footsteps, and thy heart,
When thou returnest home, be fill'd with joy
That dieth not to-day, but liveth on
Till thou from earthly scenes art call'd away !

AIR.—Boaz.

Go not from hence, my daughter,
But glean between the sheaves ;
The field is mine, and all is thine
That ev'ry reaper leaves.
Abide here by my maidens,
And join their mid-day rest ;
No tongue shall say thy gleanings nay,
Or aught thy search molest.

Go not from hence, my daughter,
But to my cornfields keep,
And follow close beside of those
Whose task it is to reap.
Thou shalt not be upbraided,
No voice thy hands shall stay ;
The field is mine, and all is thine
That thou canst glean to-day !

RECITATIVE AND AIR.—Ruth.

Why have I found grace in thine eyes, O my lord?
Why shouldst thou take knowledge of me, seeing I am a stranger?

Past all knowledge
Is the kindness
Thou dost show, my lord, to me ;
I am lowly,
And thy favour
All unmerited must be !
There are many
More deserving,
There are many—I am least,—
Yet thy bounty,
Gracious master,
Bids me join thy maidens' feast !

Deeds so kindly
Fill my bosom
With a wish thy name to laud ;
Yea, for actions
Good and tender
Ev'ry heart would fain applaud.
Hear me offer
Loud thanksgiving,
Hear thine handmaid give thee praise ;
Gracious master,
For thy welfare
I shall pray throughout my days !

RECITATIVE.—Boaz.

I know the goodly deeds that thou hast done,
O my daughter !
And the Lord God of Israel,
Under whose wings thou art come to trust,
Shall give thee full reward !

CHORAL RECITATIVE.

So she glean'd in the field until even,
And beat out that she had gleaned ;
Then went she up to the city,
And her heart was fill'd with joy.

DUET.--Naomi and Ruth.

Naomi.

With joyous heart I greet thee home,
O daughter, for thine hour is come!
No more thy weary lot shall be
'To dwell, and weep, and wail with me!

Ruth.

With joyous heart thy cheek I press,
O mother, full of tenderness ;
But, tho' we part, I still shall be
A daughter evermore to thee.

Naomi and Ruth.

Farewell, my { daughter } dear, farewell !
 { mother }
 May joy upon thy pathways fall !
 May peace beside thee ever dwell,
 The gift of God, the Lord of all.

Naomi.

Go, cleave to him who is thy lord :
His heart with gracious love is stor'd.
Go, daughter, go ; thine hour is come
To leave me for a fairer home.

Ruth.

I go, but in my heart will dwell
A love that years will not dispel;
A deeper love there could not be,
For, mother, 'tis my love of thee.

PART I.—SORROW.

Words by EDWARD OXENFORD.

Music by ALFRED R. GAUL.

No. 1.

INTRODUCTION AND CHORUS.—“A GRIEVOUS FAMINE.”

Andante tranquillo.

$\text{♩} = 80.$

Two beats in a bar. p

The musical score is written for piano in 6/4 time, with a key signature of two flats (B-flat and E-flat). It consists of six systems of staves. The first system includes the tempo marking 'Andante tranquillo.' and the tempo indicator '♩ = 80.' along with the instruction 'Two beats in a bar. p'. The score features various musical notations including notes, rests, and dynamic markings such as 'p' (piano), 'cres.' (crescendo), 'ff' (fortissimo), 'dim.' (diminuendo), and 'a tempo'. There are also performance instructions like 'Ped.' (pedal) and 'rall.' (rallentando). The piece concludes with a 'p' marking and a '4' indicating a four-measure rest.

The musical score is written for a four-part vocal ensemble (Soprano, Alto, Tenor, Bass) and piano accompaniment. The key signature is one flat (B-flat major or D minor). The score is divided into three systems, each containing four vocal staves and a grand staff for the piano. The lyrics are written below the vocal staves. The piano accompaniment features a steady eighth-note bass line and chords in the right hand. The score includes various musical notations such as notes, rests, bar lines, and dynamic markings like f (forte).

The musical score is written for voice and piano. It begins with a treble clef, a key signature of one flat (B-flat), and a common time signature. The tempo/mood is indicated as 'And.te'. The first system shows the vocal melody starting with 'songs of praise, your voices raise in songs of praise unto the Lord, the Lord of all, the Lord of all, un-'. The piano accompaniment consists of chords in the right hand and a single bass line in the left hand. A 'Ped.' marking appears at the start of the second system. The lyrics continue through several systems, ending with 'all, un - to the Lord of all, your voi - ces raise un - to the Lord, the Lord of all, un - to the Lord of all, your'. The score includes various musical notations such as notes, rests, accidentals, and dynamic markings like 'mf'.

A. R. Gaul's Sacred Cantata, "Ruth."

THE END.

MR. GAUL'S PASSION MUSIC.

MUSICAL STANDARD.

"On the evening of Good Friday, the congregation of St. Augustine's Church were invited to attend the first performance of their organist's new sacred work—a musical illustration of subjects connected with the 'Passion' of the Saviour. In this fresh musical product Mr. Gaul has the advantage of an open field, till very recently closed almost entirely to the Anglican Church composer; so that at the outset his work claims the merit of distinctiveness. The text of Mr. Gaul's work, varied and elaborate in structure, is the compilation of the Rev. J. C. Blissard, author at the same time of the original lyrical portions of the work. The course of sacred events connected with the Passion is laid out by the writer so as to form a series of six distinct 'scenes,' the literary construction of these being similar in plan throughout, but each preserving its own separate unity and point of narrative or dramatic interest. The subjects of these divisions, each occupied with a particular stage of the Mystery, are respectively: 'The Traitor at the Table,' 'The Denial,' 'The Condemnation before Pilate,' 'The Mockery on Calvary,' 'The Shadow of Death,' and 'The Holy Sepulchre.' Each comprises a prophetic portion (the words selected from those passages of Holy Writ 'foreshadowing' the event), and preceded by a short choral, which is retained unaltered throughout the work; a narrative portion dealing with the especial event, and what may be termed the lyrical epode, a hymn embodying the subjective reflection on the preceding passages, and in which the whole congregation is supposed to take part. The author has executed the compilation and versification with commendable judgment and skill. As regards the composer's share in the work it must be noted, in the first place, that whilst endeavouring to illustrate in the best manner possible the outward course of the events, the dramatic element, properly so called, has been carefully kept out of the work. Individual characterisation has been avoided by allotting the different solo musical passages without regard to any representative character. This arrangement has no doubt been prompted by judicious reasons, and there is much to be urged in its favour. Mr. Gaul has adopted the arioso style of musical setting for the solo portions of his work. In certain parts, as in the melodious solo, 'Blessed are the departed,' the writing approaches the ordinary aria form, but in general the more declamatory style is preserved. There is no imitation of archaic forms in either melodies or harmony, and in the descriptive episodes the composer has not been tempted into theatrical exaggeration in order to secure dramatic effect. The style of the composition, in short, resembles generally that of Mr. Gaul's previous writings—the same effective, grateful part-writing, and the same expressive and melodious treatment of the solo voice. In those sections, notably that of the Unjust Condemnation, where the realistic element is predominant, the composer has manifested his ability to write with dramatic force and intensity as well as with lyric charm. In this respect the choral writing distinguished itself in comparison with that in the 'Holy City' and other of the composer's works. Among the items which impressed us most favourably was the chorus, 'The fining-pot is for silver,' the beautiful choral passage 'Watch and pray,' the whole of the choral passages of the condemnation scene (the original treatment of this scene evades any comparison with the part of the Passion music of other writers); the contralto air, 'Oh, hear ye this, all ye people'; the fine chorus, 'Consider this,' the culminating point of the scene on Calvary; the trio for soprano, tenor, and bass, 'Thou hidest Thy face, O Lord'; the quartet, 'Hath God forgotten to be gracious'; the strikingly effective chorus, 'God is not a man that He should lie'; the solo before mentioned, 'Blessed are the departed,' with its choral appendage (*sol*i quartet); and last, but not least in merit, the fine setting of Adelaide Proctor's lines, 'Why should'st thou fear the beautiful angel Death,' full like the poem of a sweet, subdued, delicious calm. Mr. Gaul has not written new hymn tunes for Mr. Blissard's lyrics; the tunes selected for this occasion were from among those in ordinary congregational use. Altogether considered, Mr. Gaul's new work will undoubtedly greatly enhance his already high reputation in the line of sacred composition. An overflowing congregation testified to the great interest taken in the service. On Saturday evening the work was repeated, the attendance being almost equally large with that of the previous evening."

BIRMINGHAM DAILY MAIL.

"A second experience simply confirms the remark hazarded on the first presentation, viz., that the work is not only the most important Mr. Gaul has yet given to the world of art, but is one that, when familiar, must arrest attention."

BIRMINGHAM MUSICAL FESTIVAL, 1882.

OPINIONS OF THE LONDON AND PROVINCIAL PRESS

A. R. GAUL'S CANTATA "THE HOLY CITY"

COMPOSED EXPRESSLY FOR THE ABOVE FESTIVAL.

DAILY TELEGRAPH.

"Altogether, a good sound musical work is this 'Holy City.' I have no hesitation in saying that it creditably represents English art, and does honour not only to the skill but to the judgment and taste of Mr. Gaul.

"The Chorus, 'Thine is the kingdom,' proves that he knows how to write for imposing effect as well as for simple musicianship. 'Let the sea make a noise,' &c., belongs to the successes of massive choral writing, and the entire chorus with its fugal conclusion, 'Let the heavens rejoice' gives evidences of grand design and adequate musicianship.

"The scriptural texts have been chosen with much judgment."

STANDARD.

"The 'Holy City' is a healthy, straightforward work, with plenty of vigour and spirit about the writing. It is not of the 'new-fangled' school.

"From first to last Mr. Gaul exercises his undeniable talent in a thoroughly legitimate direction, and gladdens the ears of his auditors with plenty of tonic and dominant.

"The reception was favourable in the extreme, and the Cantata must henceforth be classed among the successes which the Birmingham Musical Festivals have brought to light."

DAILY CHRONICLE.

"Mr. Gaul is a local composer creditably known in the metropolis. It will be a matter for surprise if the Cantata, 'The Holy City,' should not augment his reputation wherever it may be heard, inasmuch as it is a right spirited work, evincing the gift of melody and an excellent knowledge of effective choral writing."

MORNING POST.

"Mr. Gaul has given to the world pieces of sacred music which have attained a reputation beyond the narrow circle of provincial fame. In his 'Holy City' he has also shown that he can write like a thorough musician in other and more severe styles. The air and chorus ('A new Heaven and a new Earth') with its pianissimo 'Sanctus' is a splendid idea. As a whole the Cantata is a good specimen of earnest musicianship and well-used means."

ACADEMY.

"There is a great deal of good and skilful writing."

MUSICAL TIMES.

"The 'Holy City' is evidently the work of a thoughtful as well as a clever composer, and should make its mark among thoroughly English productions of a sacred character."

DAILY NEWS.

"The work is throughout the production of a thoroughly trained and earnest musician. The Orchestral introduction—illustrative of contemplation—is melodious, and contains some good orchestral writing. The pieces for solo voices evince a command of agreeable and flowing melody, and are well suited to the respective voices."

ATHENÆUM.

"We must first recognise the genuine musical feeling shown by the composer.

"The vocal writing is excellent, and shows good command of the resources of counterpoint. To sum up, 'The Holy City,' though not a great, is a musicianly and pleasing work which does credit to its composer."

"The Work is an honour to English Art, and has elevated its composer into a place of distinction amongst native Musicians."—Queen.

GUARDIAN.

"Melodious, smooth, and well written from beginning to end."

MUSICAL STANDARD.

"The work is throughout characterised by dulcet, graceful melody. The choral numbers show Mr. Gaul at his best; we remark here the sure practised hand of the writer, who has already made himself not a little famous by this class of work."

FIGARO.

"The Cantata is eminently creditable and the words admirably chosen."

MANCHESTER GUARDIAN.

"The 'Holy City' has been received with every mark of approval—approval richly deserved, and if London should ever be made the scene of such music meetings as are held triennially at Birmingham, Leeds, and Norwich, Mr. Gaul may be said to have earned the right to be represented. The composer has in him a pure melodic vein, on which he has freely drawn in giving the approximate musical expression to the beautiful sacred poem-hymns incorporated in his word-book or libretto."

BIRMINGHAM DAILY POST.

"Everything is carefully rounded off and finished in form and outline, and the cultivated musician is evident alike in the part-writing for the voices and the command of orchestral resources."

BIRMINGHAM DAILY GAZETTE.

"We hope and believe that the reception given last night to Mr. Gaul and to his 'Holy City' Cantata will prove an earnest of its popularity and acceptance throughout the length and breadth of the land.

"We think highly of 'The Holy City' music for its vein of pleasing melody, and for the good disposition of the voice parts in the choruses. The instrumentation has evidently received careful attention."

BIRMINGHAM DAILY MAIL.

"From title-page to the final chorus there is such perfect organisation, genuine melody, and musical consistency in the just apportionment of subject-matter, that the Cantata is certain of a popular career."

NORWICH DAILY PRESS.

"To name any of the particular pieces for special commendation would be to name the whole, for every one portrays an earnest and thoughtful mind, as well as scholarly design."

NORWICH MERCURY.

"The general impression of the music is eminently pleasing: this arises from the perfect smoothness and elegance of Mr. Gaul's style, and the unimpeded flow of natural melody."

MANCHESTER COURIER.

"A most interesting, tuneful, and scholarly work."

LIVERPOOL DAILY COURIER.

"This fine work will considerably enhance Mr. Gaul's reputation as a musician."
